PROFILE

My dream is to contribute to a better world through web development and technology. I am passionate about the ability to create and bring imaginations to life through visual representation, creating something unique that people can feel, interact with, and work with. I believe that my musical background will strengthen me in this career as it has provided me with keen attention to detail, the ability to persevere and refine until excellence is achieved, a strong ability to be self-disciplined, and the skill to coordinate multiple tasks at once. I embrace challenges, offer diverse experiences, and am an agile learner.
