PROFILE

Blending a background of 15 years as a musician with a strong skill set honed through several years of writing, producing and managing bands. I bring a music perspective and band managing approach to web development.

Persistence, self-discipline and attention to detail are my key strengths. My strengths help me to resolve ambiguity and raise the bar on the thoroughness of web development. I look forward to exercising my passion for combining technology and the desire to create unique solutions that people can feel, interact and work with.
